REPORT OF LIBRARY TRUSTEES

The Town of Goshen possesses a commodious, attractive public library, for the maintenance of which its citizens pay approximately one hundred dollars yearly, exclusive of income from trust-funds. The desire of the trustees is to make it of the greatest use.

As a public center, there has been commendable use. For three days it housed a school children's dental clinic, has been used for rehearsal of a town-talent play, and for other public events, where the Town Hall seemed less appropriate.

Repair of the fireplace and chimney foundation has, we hope, been a permanent improvement. It is to be regretted that the plot of ground owned by the Town is too restricted in the rear of the library to allow for the deflection of hillside drainage, which, in the spring of the year, sends a large amount of water in beneath the library, but we believe this can be remedied.

Two new books given us this year are of much interest: "The Challenge to Liberty," by Former President Herbert Hoover, presented by the publishers, Charles Scribner's Sons, and a poetic legend of Sunapee, "The Legend of Ann Smith," by Former Governor John H. Bartlett.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the School Board of Goshen:

I herewith submit the annual report of the superintendent of schools.

Consolidated School

For the past six years, for which I find records in the office, the total enrollment of the Goshen schools has remained quite constant (ranging from 27 to 34.) These pupils have been housed in two buildings, the Mill Village School and the Goshen Corner School. The two schools have varied in size, most of the time being nearly equal. Both schools are good and the townspeople may justly feel satisfied with them, but there is always the question as to whether we can make the "good" better.

Rural education must either be in scattered one-room schools or in a consolidated school, to which pupils are transported. Both types of school have advantages and disadvantages. Scattered one-room schools are easy of access; pupils can easily walk to and from school. On the other hand classes are likely to be small and lacking in competition and interest. The Corner School, for example, now has three classes of one pupil each and two of two pupils each. From an educational point of view the advantages are all with the consolidated school.

1. Each teacher, in a two-room building, would have only four grades to teach, instead of spreading her time and effort over eight grades. She could prepare her daily work much better and teach more effectively. Each pupil would receive more individual attention.

2. Class periods could be longer, since there would be fewer subjects to be taught. Lessons could be covered more thoroughly.

3. Classes would be a little larger, resulting in group cooperation, individual rivalry, and general interest.

4. It would be unnecessary to group grades. In an eight-grade rural school grades 3 and 4, 5 and 6, 7 and 8 have to be combined in all subjects except arithmetic in order to keep the number of class periods within reasonable limits. This is a handicap to those pupils who move during the year to a graded town system or enter rural school from a town school.

5. In a consolidated school pupils can have the benefit of better conditions for play, games, clubs, or other group activities.

6. The up-keep of one building is a little less than the up-keep of several schools.

7. Good roads make adequate transportation entirely possible. Incidentally transportation furnishes employment for some townspeople.

Moreover a good consolidated school is not only a boon to children, but it becomes an object of satisfaction and pride to the townspeople.

This matter has been discussed by an earlier superintendent and doubtless has been talked over by citizens many times. It seemed proper for me to lay before you my own convictions on a subject so vital to the school children. It is, of course, the right and privilege of the voters of the school district to establish (or maintain) any system which seems best to them, all things considered. The School Board, superintendent, and teachers will do their part to operate at the highest possible efficiency the type of school prescribed by the district, but they would naturally prefer to maintain the system which seems best for the education of the children.

High School Pupils

There are now seven pupils from Goshen attending the Towle High School in Newport. Two will graduate in June. Probably four of the eighth grade pupils at Mill Village will go to high school next year, making nine pupils in high school. Goshen has had a good record as to the number of its pupils seeking further education in high school and is evidently going to maintain that record.

Health

Mrs. Hasham continues her excellent services as school nurse. She has made the following report which is so good that I am including it at this point:

"The nurse is an invaluable factor in the school health program. She is in a position to have intimate knowledge of the health problems of the pupils and to make direct home contacts. Through personal visits to the homes she can give a clear idea to the parents of what the school health work is aiming at and secure cooperation from them. Often she is called on to make connections with state agencies, with local authority, and with physicians at distances away, often accompanying pupils for special treatment.

"Her first concern is checking pupils' health habits. The foundation of health includes clean and well cared-for teeth and for this reason a school dental clinic was held at the library, January 17, 18; 25. The amount of $25.00 was appropriated for this clinic from the funds of the Red Cross, and $32.00 was granted by the Child Recovery Program. $6.25 were collected at school to help meet the cost of the clinic. Twenty-three boys and girls took advantage of the clinic. The work was done by Dr. E. F. Keane of Newport. A total of 129 operations was performed. Total number cleanings 15. Total number of extractions 26. Total number amalgam fillings 26. Total number treatments 62. Few of the cavities were small— suffice it to say that the dental work administered at the clinic was the first that most of the pupils had ever received. Those who know of the work feel that it is most worth while and hope that it will be held annually for the boys and girls of Goshen schools."

ZEPHYRINE L. HASHAM, R. N.

Repairs

At the Village School there is a need of at least 12 small desks and seats. Many of the desks are too large for the children, bringing work too near the eyes. Some children can not rest their feet on the floor. I recommend either the adjustable kind or movable chair-desks in various sizes.

This building is rather dark inside. Due to the fact that the ceiling curves toward the sides, the windows are not very high. If the ceiling could be run to the side horizontally, much higher windows could be installed, admitting more light. This is very important because the windows are on the north side and are under the shadow of a knoll and another building. Painting the ceiling white would add to the reflected light also.

The Corner School needs to be papered and painted inside. The outer and inner sheds need covering for the walls, since most of the plaster is off. Probably celotex or wall board would be satisfactory and inexpensive, except in the wood shed. That should be boarded. Painting would, of course, be necessary for the new walls.

Finances

The estimated expenditures for next year are almost the same as for this year, the slight increase being due mainly to the larger number of tuition pupils, new desks for the Village School, and moderate increases in teachers' salaries. The number of tuition pupils is a matter over which we have no control. The desks, as I have mentioned, are needed from a hygienic point of view. The services of good teachers surely merit some reward.

I appreciate very much the pleasant reception given a new superintendent by the School Board, teachers, and others and their cooperation in the work of the schools.

Respectfully submitted,

ALFRED W. SMITH,

Supt. of Schools.
